

JOB OFFER: SOFTWARE ENGINEER WEB FRONTEND

(M/F/D)

What: Permanent position, full-time

When: Now

Where: Erfurt, Bahnhofstr. 5a or also predominantly remote

You are familiar with current technologies in front-end software development and are enthusiastic about mobile app development? Do you like to take on new challenges?

Great, then we are looking for exactly you! As part of our web team, you will work closely with your colleagues and other business units in software development. Your work will directly contribute to moving the company and its products forward.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

- During the onboarding process:
  - You will get to know our team and the agile product development cycle
  - You will be introduced to the product to build a deep understanding
  - You will develop your own workflow in the realization of requirements
- After the onboarding:
  - You create technical concepts and develop new features independently
  - You develop new modules in the frontend based on Angular in your own responsibility
  - You work closely together with the backend development and our design team
  - You integrate external software solutions into our product
  - You provide interfaces for other software platforms
  - You think ahead and contribute to the continuous optimization of our product.

WHAT WE EXPECT

- You have an education in the field of computer science
- You are smart and like to work in a team
- You already have technical experience in front-end development
- You have a solid knowledge of TypeScript, Angular 8+ and NgRx
- You are no stranger to Git and Docker
- You are creative and enjoy software development

WHAT WE OFFER

- With us you work in a dynamic team with flat hierarchies and a pleasant working atmosphere
- On-site working with us in our modern office in Erfurt, but also a hybrid working model with a large remote part is possible
- You have enough leeway to take on responsibility early on
- You work together with talented colleagues
